

INDEX OF DoD DOCUMENTS
ACLU v. DoD
REDACTED DOCUMENTS: SECTION 3 (SCHMIDT-FURLOW EXHIBITS 58 TO 77)

ID	Type	To	From	Subject/Title	Date	Exemption(s)	Remarks
B50	Log Excerpt	N/A	N/A	Interrogation Log	20-Dec-02	Exemption One Information redacted from this document is currently and properly classified under Executive Order 12958, as amended, Sections 1.4 (a) and (c), which pertain to military operations and intelligence activities of the United States. Redacted portions of this document contain detailed information concerning the interrogation of a specific detainee including descriptions of specific interrogation techniques and the interrogation plan for this detainee. Release of this detailed information concerning the interrogation of a specific detainee would cause serious damage to the national security, specifically intelligence activities and methods, as disclosure would allow hostile entities to discover details regarding the interview process associated with this individual detainee and the assessment and evaluation of the effectiveness or ineffectiveness of the interview process made by those directly responsible for it. Moreover, disclosure would allow hostile agents to devise countermeasures to counter interrogation techniques.	Exhibit 58 from the Schmidt-Furlow Report.

INDEX OF DoD DOCUMENTS
ACLU v. DoD
REDACTED DOCUMENTS: SECTION 3 (SCHMIDT-FURLOW EXHIBITS 58 TO 77)

ID	Type	To	From	Subject/Title	Date	Exemption(s)	Remarks
B51	Shift Log Excerpt	N/A	N/A	Shift Log	23 Nov-02	Exemption One Information redacted from this document is currently and properly classified under Executive Order 12958, as amended, Sections 1.4 (a) and (c), which pertain to military operations and intelligence activities of the United States. Redacted portions of this document contain detailed information on the interrogation of a specific detainee including descriptions of specific interrogation techniques and assessments of their effectiveness. This document also contains detailed descriptions of military operations integral to the detention facility. Release of this detailed information would cause serious damage to the national security as disclosure would allow hostile entities to discover details of the interview process for this individual detainee and assessments and evaluation of the effectiveness or ineffectiveness of the interview process made by those directly responsible for it. Moreover, disclosure would allow hostile agents to use this information to devise countermeasures to counter interrogation techniques and the military operations required to run the detention facility.	Exhibit 59 from the Schmidt-Furlow Report.

INDEX OF DoD DOCUMENTS

ACLU v. DoD

REDACTED DOCUMENTS: SECTION 3 (SCHMIDT-FURLLOW EXHIBITS 58 TO 77)

ID	Type	To	From	Subject/Title	Date	Exemption(s)	Remarks
B52	Shift Log Excerpt	N/A	N/A	Shift Log	1-Dec-02	Exemption One Information redacted from this document is currently and properly classified under Executive Order 12958, as amended, Sections 1.4 (a) and (c), which pertain to military operations and intelligence activities of the United States. Redacted portions of this document contain detailed information on the interrogation of a specific detainee including descriptions of specific interrogation techniques and assessments of their effectiveness. This document also contains detailed descriptions of military operations integral to the detention facility. Release of this detailed information would cause serious damage to the national security as disclosure would allow hostile entities to discover details of the interview process for this individual detainee and assessments and evaluation of the effectiveness or ineffectiveness of the interview process made by those directly responsible for it. Moreover, disclosure would allow hostile agents to use this information to devise countermeasures to counter interrogation techniques and the military operations required to run the detention facility.	Exhibit 60 from the Schmidt-Furlow Report.

INDEX OF DoD DOCUMENTS

ACLU v. DoD

REDACTED DOCUMENTS: SECTION 3 (SCHMIDT-FURLOW EXHIBITS 58 TO 77)

ID	Type	To	From	Subject/Title	Date	Exemption(s)	Remarks
B53	Shift Log Excerpt	N/A	N/A	Shift Log	14-Dec-02	Exemption One Information redacted from this document is currently and properly classified under Executive Order 12958, as amended, Sections 1.4 (a) and (c), which pertain to military operations and intelligence activities of the United States. Redacted portions of this document contain detailed information on the interrogation of a specific detainee including descriptions of specific interrogation techniques and assessments of their effectiveness. This document also contains detailed descriptions of military operations integral to the detention facility. Release of this detailed information would cause serious damage to the national security as disclosure would allow hostile entities to discover details of the interview process for this individual detainee and assessments and evaluation of the effectiveness or ineffectiveness of the interview process made by those directly responsible for it. Moreover, disclosure would allow hostile agents to use this information to devise countermeasures to counter interrogation techniques and the military operations required to run the detention facility.	Exhibit 61 from the Schmidt-Furlow Report.

INDEX OF DoD DOCUMENTS

ACLU v. DoD

REDACTED DOCUMENTS: SECTION 3 (SCHMIDT-FURLLOW EXHIBITS 58 TO 77)

ID	Type	To	From	Subject/Title	Date	Exemption(s)	Remarks
B54	Shift Log Excerpt	N/A	N/A	Shift Log	28-Nov-02	Exemption One Information redacted from this document is currently and properly classified under Executive Order 12958, as amended, Sections 1.4 (a) and (c), which pertain to military operations and intelligence activities of the United States. Redacted portions of this document contain detailed information on the interrogation of a specific detainee including descriptions of specific interrogation techniques and assessments of their effectiveness. This document also contains detailed descriptions of military operations integral to the detention facility. Release of this detailed information would cause serious damage to the national security as disclosure would allow hostile entities to discover details of the interview process for this individual detainee and assessments and evaluation of the effectiveness or ineffectiveness of the interview process made by those directly responsible for it. Moreover, disclosure would allow hostile agents to use this information to devise countermeasures to counter interrogation techniques and the military operations required to run the detention facility.	Exhibit 62 from the Schmidt-Furlow Report.

INDEX OF DoD DOCUMENTS

ACLU v. DoD

REDACTED DOCUMENTS: SECTION 3 (SCHMIDT-FURLLOW EXHIBITS 58 TO 77)

ID	Type	To	From	Subject/Title	Date	Exemption(s)	Remarks
B55	Witness Statement	N/A	N/A	Witness Statement	12-Jul-04	Exemption One Information redacted from this document is currently and properly classified under Executive Order 12958, as amended, Sections 1.4 (a) and (c), which pertain to military operations and intelligence activities of the United States. Redacted portions of this document contain information concerning detainee interrogations and policy, revealing intelligence sources and methods. Release of this information concerning interrogations would cause serious damage to the national security, specifically intelligence activities and methods, as disclosure would allow hostile entities to discover information regarding the interview process and so to devise countermeasures to counter interrogation techniques.	Exhibit 63 from the Schmidt-Furlow Report.

INDEX OF DoD DOCUMENTS

ACLU v. DoD

REDACTED DOCUMENTS: SECTION 3 (SCHMIDT-FURLLOW EXHIBITS 58 TO 77)

ID	Type	To	From	Subject/Title	Date	Exemption(s)	Remarks
B56	Shift Log Excerpt	N/A	N/A	Shift Log	13 Dec-02 to 14-Jan-03	Exemption One Information redacted from this document is currently and properly classified under Executive Order 12958, as amended, Sections 1.4 (a) and (c), which pertain to military operations and intelligence activities of the United States. Redacted portions of this document contain detailed information on the interrogation of a specific detainee including descriptions of specific interrogation techniques and assessments of their effectiveness. This document also contains detailed descriptions of military operations integral to the detention facility. Release of this detailed information would cause serious damage to the national security as disclosure would allow hostile entities to discover details of the interview process for this individual detainee and assessments and evaluation of the effectiveness or ineffectiveness of the interview process made by those directly responsible for it. Moreover, disclosure would allow hostile agents to use this information to devise countermeasures to counter interrogation techniques and the military operations required to run the detention facility.	Exhibit 64 from the Schmidt-Furlow Report.

INDEX OF DoD DOCUMENTS

ACLU v. DoD

REDACTED DOCUMENTS: SECTION 3 (SCHMIDT-FURLOW EXHIBITS 58 TO 77)

ID	Type	To	From	Subject/Title	Date	Exemption(s)	Remarks
B57	Medical Record Excerpt	N/A	N/A	Medical Exam	16-Jan-03	Exemption One Information redacted from this document is currently and properly classified under Executive Order 12958, as amended, Sections 1.4 (a) and (c), which pertain to military operations and intelligence activities of the United States. Redacted portions of this document contain detailed on the interrogation of a specific detainee. This document also contains detailed descriptions of military operations integral to the detention facility. Release of this detailed information would cause serious damage to the national security as disclosure would allow hostile entities to discover details of the interview process for this individual detainee. Disclosure would allow hostile agents to use this information on interrogation and military procedures to devise countermeasures to counter interrogation techniques and the military operations required to run the detention facility. Exemption 6 Disclosure of medical information concerning the subject of these records would unreasonably intrude on the detainee's privacy.	Exhibit 65 from the Schmidt-Furlow Report.

INDEX OF DoD DOCUMENTS

ACLU v. DoD

REDACTED DOCUMENTS: SECTION 3 (SCHMIDT-FURLLOW EXHIBITS 58 TO 77)

ID	Type	To	From	Subject/Title	Date	Exemption(s)	Remarks
B58	Memorandum	Redacted	MG Miller	Effectiveness of Certain Category II Counter-Resistance Strategies	21-Jan-03	Exemption One Information redacted from this document is currently and properly classified under Executive Order 12958, as amended, Sections 1.4 (a) and (c), which pertain to military operations and intelligence activities of the United States. Redacted portions of this document contain detailed information concerning of specific interrogation techniques, intelligence assessments and discussions of their effectiveness and non-effectiveness and potential future collection techniques. The redacted information includes specific information about the interrogation of an individual detainee. Release of this detailed information would cause serious damage to the national security, specifically intelligence activities and methods, as disclosure would allow hostile entities to discover details regarding the interview process and assessment and evaluation of its effectiveness or ineffectiveness made by those directly responsible for it. Moreover, disclosure would allow hostile agents to use this information to devise countermeasures to counter interrogation techniques.	Exhibit 66 from the Schmidt-Furlow Report.

INDEX OF DoD DOCUMENTS

ACLU v. DoD

REDACTED DOCUMENTS: SECTION 3 (SCHMIDT-FURLLOW EXHIBITS 58 TO 77)

ID	Type	To	From	Subject/Title	Date	Exemption(s)	Remarks
B59	Memorandum	Redacted	Redacted	Special Interrogation Plan	13 Aug-03	Exemption One Information redacted from this document is currently and properly classified under Executive Order 12958, as amended, Sections 1.4 (a) and (c), which pertain to military operations and intelligence activities of the United States. Redacted portions of this document contain detailed information concerning the plan for the interrogation of a specific detainee. Release of this detailed information concerning the interrogation of a specific detainee would cause serious damage to the national security, specifically intelligence activities and methods, as disclosure would allow hostile entities to discover details regarding the interview process associated with this individual detainee and the assessment and evaluation of the effectiveness or ineffectiveness of the interview process made by those directly responsible for it. Moreover, disclosure would allow hostile agents to devise countermeasures to counter interrogation techniques.	Exhibit 67 from the Schmidt-Furlow Report.

INDEX OF DoD DOCUMENTS

ACLU v. DoD

REDACTED DOCUMENTS: SECTION 3 (SCHMIDT-FURLLOW EXHIBITS 58 TO 77)

ID	Type	To	From	Subject/Title	Date	Exemption(s)	Remarks
B60	Memo	N/A	N/A	Memorandum for Record	None Stated	Exemption One Information redacted from this document is currently and properly classified under Executive Order 12958, as amended, Sections 1.4 (a) and (c), which pertain to military operations and intelligence activities of the United States. Redacted portions of this document contain detailed information concerning the interrogation of a specific detainee including descriptions of specific interrogation techniques and intelligence assessments and discussions of potential future collection techniques for this specific detainee. Release of this detailed information would cause serious damage to the national security, specifically intelligence activities and methods, as disclosure would allow hostile entities to discover details regarding the interview process associated with this individual detainee and the assessment and evaluation of the effectiveness or ineffectiveness of the interview process made by those directly responsible for it. Moreover, disclosure would allow hostile agents to use this information to devise countermeasures to counter interrogation techniques.	Exhibit 68 from the Schmidt-Furlow Report.

INDEX OF DoD DOCUMENTS

ACLU v. DoD

REDACTED DOCUMENTS: SECTION 3 (SCHMIDT-FURLLOW EXHIBITS 58 TO 77)

ID	Type	To	From	Subject/Title	Date	Exemption(s)	Remarks
B61	Memorandum			Memorandum for Record	None Stated	Exemption One Information redacted from this document is currently and properly classified under Executive Order 12958, as amended, Sections 1.4 (a) and (c), which pertain to military operations and intelligence activities of the United States. Redacted portions of this document contain detailed information concerning the interrogation of a specific detainee including descriptions of specific interrogation techniques and intelligence assessments and discussions of potential future collection techniques for this specific detainee. Release of this detailed information would cause serious damage to the national security, specifically intelligence activities and methods, as disclosure would allow hostile entities to discover details regarding the interview process associated with this individual detainee and the assessment and evaluation of the effectiveness or ineffectiveness of the interview process made by those directly responsible for it. Moreover, disclosure would allow hostile agents to use this information to devise countermeasures to counter interrogation techniques.	Exhibit 69 from the Schmidt-Furlow Report.

INDEX OF DoD DOCUMENTS

ACLU v. DoD

REDACTED DOCUMENTS: SECTION 3 (SCHMIDT-FURLOW EXHIBITS 58 TO 77)

ID	Type	To	From	Subject/Title	Date	Exemption(s)	Remarks
B62	Email with Attachment	Redacted	Redacted	FW:Detainee Allegations Inquiry Report	22-Dec-04	Exemption One Information redacted from the memorandum portion of this document is currently and properly classified under Executive Order 12958, as amended, Sections 1.4 (a) and (c), which pertain to military operations and intelligence activities of the United States. Redacted portions of this document contain detailed information concerning the interrogation of a specific detainee including descriptions of specific interrogation techniques. Release of this detailed information would cause serious damage to the national security, specifically intelligence activities and methods, as disclosure would allow hostile entities to discover details regarding the interview process associated with this individual detainee. Moreover, disclosure would allow hostile agents to use this information to devise countermeasures to counter interrogation techniques. All information redacted from the email portion of this document is withheld to protect identities under exemptions 6 and 7(c)	Exhibit 70 from the Schmidt-Furlow Report.

INDEX OF DoD DOCUMENTS

ACLU v. DoD

REDACTED DOCUMENTS: SECTION 3 (SCHMIDT-FURLLOW EXHIBITS 58 TO 77)

ID	Type	To	From	Subject/Title	Date	Exemption(s)	Remarks
B63	Medial Record Excerpt	N/A	N/A	Medical Report	8-Sep-02	Exemption One Information redacted from this document is currently and properly classified under Executive Order 12958, as amended, Sections 1.4 (a) and (c), which pertain to military operations and intelligence activities of the United States. Redacted portions of this document contain detailed information on the interrogation of a specific detainee. This document also contains detailed descriptions of military operations integral to the detention facility. Release of this detailed information would cause serious damage to the national security as disclosure would allow hostile entities to discover details of the interview process for this individual detainee. Disclosure would allow hostile agents to use this information on interrogation and military procedures to devise countermeasures to counter interrogation techniques and the military operations required to run the detention facility. Exemption 6 Disclosure of medical information concerning the subject of these records would unreasonably intrude on the detainee's privacy.	Exhibit 71 from the Schmidt-Furlow Report.

INDEX OF DoD DOCUMENTS

ACLU v. DoD

REDACTED DOCUMENTS: SECTION 3 (SCHMIDT-FURLOW EXHIBITS 58 TO 77)

ID	Type	To	From	Subject/Title	Date	Exemption(s)	Remarks
B64	Memo	N/A	N/A	Apprehension of Mother Deception	Re-dacted	Exemption One This document is currently and properly classified under Executive Order 12958, as amended, Sections 1.4 (a) and (c), which pertain to military operations and intelligence activities of the United States. It contains information concerning the interrogation of a specific detainee, and its disclosure would reveal details of classified intelligence sources and methods. Release of this detailed information would cause serious damage to the national security, specifically intelligence activities and methods, as disclosure would allow hostile entities to discover details regarding the interview process associated with this individual detainee. This would allow hostile agents to use this information to devise countermeasures to counter interrogation techniques.	Exhibit 72 from the Schmidt-Furrow Report.

INDEX OF DoD DOCUMENTS

ACLU v. DoD

REDACTED DOCUMENTS: SECTION 3 (SCHMIDT-FURLOW EXHIBITS 58 TO 77)

ID	Type	To	From	Subject/Title	Date	Exemption(s)	Remarks
B65	Memorandum	N/A	N/A	Memorandum for Record	17-Jul-03	Exemption One Information redacted from this document is currently and properly classified under Executive Order 12958, as amended, Sections 1.4 (a) and (c), which pertain to military operations and intelligence activities of the United States. Redacted portions of this document contain detailed information concerning the interrogation of a specific detainee including descriptions of specific interrogation techniques, intelligence assessments and discussions of potential future collection techniques in a detailed interrogation plan for this specific detainee. Release of this detailed information would cause serious damage to the national security, specifically intelligence activities and methods, as disclosure would allow hostile entities to discover details regarding the interview process associated with this individual detainee and the assessment and evaluation of the effectiveness or ineffectiveness of the interview process made by those directly responsible for it. Disclosure would allow hostile agents to use this information to devise countermeasures to counter interrogation techniques.	Exhibit 73 from the Schmidt-Furlow Report.

INDEX OF DoD DOCUMENTS

ACLU v. DoD

REDACTED DOCUMENTS: SECTION 3 (SCHMIDT-FURLOW EXHIBITS 58 TO 77)

ID	Type	To	From	Subject/Title	Date	Exemption(s)	Remarks
B66	Memorandum	N/A	N/A	Memorandum for Record	29-Jul-03	Exemption One Information redacted from this document is currently and properly classified under Executive Order 12958, as amended, Sections 1.4 (a) and (c), which pertain to military operations and intelligence activities of the United States. Redacted portions of this document contain detailed information concerning the interrogation of a specific detainee including descriptions of specific interrogation techniques, intelligence assessments and discussions of potential future collection techniques in a detailed interrogation plan for this specific detainee. Release of this detailed information would cause serious damage to the national security, specifically intelligence activities and methods, as disclosure would allow hostile entities to discover details regarding the interview process associated with this individual detainee and the assessment and evaluation of the effectiveness or ineffectiveness of the interview process made by those directly responsible for it. Disclosure would allow hostile agents to use this information to devise countermeasures to counter interrogation techniques.	Exhibit 74 from the Schmidt-Furlow Report.

INDEX OF DoD DOCUMENTS

ACLU v. DoD

REDACTED DOCUMENTS: SECTION 3 (SCHMIDT-FURLLOW EXHIBITS 58 TO 77)

ID	Type	To	From	Subject/Title	Date	Exemption(s)	Remarks
B67	Memorandum	N/A	N/A	Memorandum for Record	2-Aug-03	Exemption One Information redacted from this document is currently and properly classified under Executive Order 12958, as amended, Sections 1.4 (a) and (c), which pertain to military operations and intelligence activities of the United States. Redacted portions of this document contain detailed information concerning the interrogation of a specific detainee including descriptions of specific interrogation techniques, intelligence assessments and discussions of potential future collection techniques in a detailed interrogation plan for this specific detainee. Release of this detailed information would cause serious damage to the national security, specifically intelligence activities and methods, as disclosure would allow hostile entities to discover details regarding the interview process associated with this individual detainee and the assessment and evaluation of the effectiveness or ineffectiveness of the interview process made by those directly responsible for it. Disclosure would allow hostile agents to use this information to devise countermeasures to counter interrogation techniques.	Exhibit 75 from the Schmidt-Furlow Report.

ID	Type	To	From	Subject/Title	Date	Exemption(s)	Remarks
B68	Memorandum	N/A	N/A	Memorandum for Record	3-Sep-03	Exemption One Information redacted from this document is currently and properly classified under Executive Order 12958, as amended, Sections 1.4 (a) and (c), which pertain to military operations and intelligence activities of the United States. Redacted portions of this document contain detailed information concerning the interrogation of a specific detainee including descriptions of specific interrogation techniques, intelligence assessments and discussions of potential future collection techniques in a detailed interrogation plan for this specific detainee. Release of this detailed information would cause serious damage to the national security, specifically intelligence activities and methods, as disclosure would allow hostile entities to discover details regarding the interview process associated with this individual detainee and the assessment and evaluation of the effectiveness or ineffectiveness of the interview process made by those directly responsible for it. Moreover, disclosure would allow hostile agents to use this information to devise countermeasures to counter interrogation techniques.	Exhibit 76 from the Schmidt-Furlow Report.