It is not totally nailed down yet, but I think [REDACTED] is the detainee they were talking about Given the fact that FBI waited for [REDACTED] to get moved to camp 5, why hasn't the IP been withdrawn?

Just to ensure intent doesn't get garbled, I would request that any follow-up on this issue be handled by you [REDACTED] and me

I just spoke with Lt Col [REDACTED] the SJA here He indicated there are three IPs pending, [REDACTED] and [REDACTED]

As we discussed before [REDACTED] did not reach the IP stage, it was simply Notification of Intent to interrogate [REDACTED] outside Camp Delta - attached This memo was required as [REDACTED] was placed in Echo for disciplinary reasons initially, not for intel collection, which automatically triggers the IP requirement My understanding is an IP would have been required if [REDACTED] would have remained in Echo for more than 30

We didn't actually interview [redacted] in Echo at all, as we decided to wait until he was moved to Camp 5, which has no notifications or IP requirements, and we believe Camp 5 serves our purposes almost as well as Echo anyway

We are not working with DoD on [redacted] or [redacted] - both detainees are being handled by the Special Projects Team

The Joint Intelligence Group Deputy Commander is researching the [redacted] package for me and will provide me with copies of all documents forwarded to SOUTHCOM. I'll get those to you ASAP

I think you are right that what DOJ is calling an IP for [redacted] is the memo that you sent me I also am trying to nail that down, but I think the OLC people are doing a lot of running around on other issues and responding to my attempts to get this straight isn't at the top of their list of priorities

I don't think an IP was submitted - if it was, it wasn't written by me The only thing we did was the memo I sent you - it appears this is being confused with an IP I'm hoping to get all the way to the bottom of this before I leave today at 10AM

Regarding [redacted] and [redacted] - they are both being worked exclusively by the Special Projects Team, which is run by [redacted] the Navy Reserve, Chicago Detective We certainly have an interest in any intel of value developed, but we are by no means working the interrogation piece with them, nor did we have any part in writing the IPs
